Potential Risks

While the Manager, EIF and EIB and Bonnefield exercise due diligence throughout the investing process, no guarantees can be given to offset a risk of loss and investors should consult with their Financial Advisor prior to investing in the Fund. The Manager believes that given the character of the private investments that are making up the majority of the Fund’s holdings, the Fund has less exposure to the market risk than a similar fund invested in publicly listed securities. The Manager believes the following risks are key to the Fund’s performance: failure to meet commitments, risks related to the private portfolio investments, agriculture industry risk, equity risk, general economic and market conditions, liquidity risk and marketability and transferability of units risk. Please read the “Risk Factors” section in the Offering Memorandum for a more detailed description of all the relevant risks.

FUND COMMENTARY (as at September 30, 2018)

For the period of April 30, 2018 to September 30, 2018, the Fund’s Series F Units had a return of 3.3%.

The Fund has initiated its investment strategy by investing in Portland Global Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy Fund LP (“Portland GEEREF LP”). Looking ahead the Fund intends to invest in private equities in renewable energy and energy efficiency, most likely to be in GEEREF through an additional investment in Portland GEEREF LP, and GEEREF NeXt. Thereafter, the Fund intends to invest in the Bonnefield Canadian Farmland Evergreen LP by May 2019.

RECENT DEVELOPMENTS

We believe that renewable energy and energy efficiency are at the core of sustainable investing which in turn is central to the transition to a less carbon-intensive and more sustainable global energy system. Also, we believe Canadian agriculture has experienced a resurgence over the past decade, particularly in the grains and oilseed sector and that several macroeconomic and environmental trends have led to major shortages in agricultural commodities.

This period since the Great Recession is one of the longest ever stretches of rising markets. Cyclically and inflationary adjusted earnings over the last ten years compared to prices suggests in our view that the current market is fully valued. In addition, the U.S. Treasury Yield curve, reflecting the difference between 2-year and 10-year Treasury yields has flattened to levels not seen in a decade. A negative yield is ordinarily an indicator of recession and therefore while we do not see a near-term catalyst to initiate a market correction, such as recession or weakening confidence, such a correction is, at least statistically due in our view and vulnerable to geopolitical events, not least trade protectionism.

In the near-term while strengthening economies trump the shenanigans of popularity politics across Europe and the Americas, bond markets face rising rates for the first time in some four decades, which is likely to create significant asset reallocations and liquidity issues leading to increased periods of volatility. Despite the political turmoil, central bankers have steered the global economy away from the Great Recession. While increased volatility may be unsettling, it is to be expected as rates rise and quantitative easing (i.e. bond purchasing) is replaced with quantitative firming (i.e. bond sales by Central Banks) as Central Banks wean their country’s off support mechanisms and towards more normal rates and markets. Also as the U.S. proceeds towards trade ‘wars’ rather than an infrastructure agenda and the U.K.’s ‘Brexit’ negotiations with the E.U. remain protracted, there is plenty of scope for turmoil.

Once we have received sufficient investor subscriptions, we are excited at the prospects for the Fund to then be able to invest in the Partnership and for both then to achieve attractive returns, which by the nature of the underlying investments are expected to hold little correlation to the publicly traded markets. Overall, we believe that the Fund and Partnership will be well positioned to meet their investment objectives for the medium to long term.
